

"Crossing the Court for Cordelia"

At the
10th Annual Middle School Showdown

A little about Cordelia...

In 2007, at age four, Cordelia suddenly suffered a severe cardiac crisis, and her family didn't know what was going on or what to do. Later that year, with the help of many doctors and specialists, Cordelia was diagnosed with Pulmonary Arterial Hypertension. This is a disease that affects the heart and lungs of a person. The veins in their lungs become tight and constricted, meaning that the right side of the heart works much harder than it should to try to move blood out of the heart. The condition causes most movements to become really difficult and it can make a person really short of breath, even when they just walk across a room. Imagine how you feel after Running Day. That's how Cordelia feels just going up a flight of stairs! The worst part is that this disease can seriously damage a PH patient's heart, and there's no cure. But there still is hope! Through fantastic funding by all sorts of donors, like our schools, research is continuing toward a cure for this diminishing disease! By coming to this basketball game, you're helping Cordelia and countless others afflicted with PH as well! We hope to see you at the game and thank you!!!
